FOLD AND TEAR ALONG HERE

You can honour the life of a loved one who has passed by accepting donations for Medical Research on their behalf.

Requesting for donations instead of flowers at a funeral allows family and friends to make a meaningful gesture of remembrance that will last generations.

The Ingham Institute for Applied Medical Research conducts world-class research that addresses the health and medical needs of our local and broader communities.

Donations to the Ingham Institute play a critical role in helping researchers translate their discoveries into our community.

100% allocated to supporting medical research at the Ingham Institute.
All donations over $2 are tax deductible.

In Memory of Wall

Located within a working laboratory the In Memory of Wall features the names of those whose final act was to help progress medical research for the benefit others.

Every day, the scientists at the Ingham Institute work tirelessly towards finding new solutions to health and medical challenges are inspired by those whose names are found on the Memorial Wall.

Each name on the wall symbolises someone whose life ended with a gift for future generations. A final gesture of hope for a better life for loved ones left behind.

Community Driven Medical Research

Founded by the community for the community, our dedicated researchers are determined to finding better ways to treat health conditions affecting South Western Sydney and beyond.

The focus at the Institute is on translating research into direct health benefits for everyone in the community.
